

- TREVOR - Page 1 of 2
- + (1) Innovative, cleverly so
 - + (2) Quick thinking on the spot
 - + (3) Articulate, without being condescending
 - + (4) Aware of position needs: relationships especially
 - + (5) Good discussion about donor needs/importance
 - + (6) Aware of youthful needs/desires vs. classical music
 - + (7) Seems to respect Daniel Nylie certainly needed
 - ? (8) No idea if can manage complexity and competing priorities

- Trevor (continued) - Page 2 of 2
- + (9) Physically animated / enthusiastic
 - + (10) Seems to like Salisbury, but it is an interview
 - + (11) Superb eye contact, strong handshake
 - + (12) Tough to work relationships from Raleigh
 - ? (13) Not sure of his ability to ~~manage~~ manage a $½ million budget
 - # (14) Good recognition of and desire to participate in educational initiatives.
- Summary: I would welcome Trevor as new Ed Dir.

TREVOR - GOT THE PERSONALITY
GO FOR HIM

ON THE SAME LEVEL AS DANIEL

Trevor is much more impressive for this important role.

I'm concerned about his physical distance from Salisbury!

Between the two, I would prefer Trevor.

Trevor

Very engaging - sounds like he would meet people well - sounds like a good fit.

I was present for only the latter part of the interview with Trevor, but I was impressed with his familiarity with efforts in various locations to build audiences and appeal to various audiences.
and age groups.

Trevor-

- Excellent personality
- Brings energy & well thought out ideas
- Breath of Fresh Air

My vote ✓

Trevor is very energetic and has much to contribute - very charismatic and comfortable on his feet with an audience -

Good eye contact!! At ease —

Friday

Have some concerns with being remote as the position needs contact with many people/work environment to learn about Salisbury

Other than that, has very good ideas and is very personable

Trevor

Good at meeting people, more extroverted

Less experience

my concern about living in Durham
